Local Business People to Give Talks at Schools

Business students in Torrance's three high schools will learn about such topics as public utilities, banks, insurance, installment buying, discount buying, and marketing in a series of talks to be given by local businessmen.

The once-a-month talks will give students more information on various phases of business from men actually in the field, according to Lysle Albro, curriculum coordinator.

James Becker and Stanley Smith of the Southern California Gas Co. will open the talks on Monday, Oct. 27, with a discussion of "Public Utilities" at all three high schools.

Other speakers and their topics include:

Harold Frenz, Bank of America, "Banks and Banking," Nov. 24.

Bill King, General Casualty Co., and Newell Larsen, Provident Life Insurance Co., "Insurance," Dec. 8.

Mott Farrell, Public Finance Co., "Installment Buying," and Dick Landauer and Harvey Bedford, Certi-Bond, "Discount Buying," Jan. 12.
